Instruction

In the High School the teaching staff is the same as when school closed in June, 1936, but in the elementary rooms two changes were made. For grades VII and VIII Miss Dorothy E. Smith of Londonderry has replaced Miss Charlotte A. Floyd. Miss Smith is a graduate of New Hampshire University and has had several years of teaching experience. Mrs. Nellie E. Fellows, after many years of successful service in Hollis and other districts, declined reelection as teacher of the primary grades. Her place was filled by the appointment of Miss Emma Pitman of Laconia. Miss Pitman is a graduate of Plymouth Normal School and has had considerable experience in the instruction and management of young children.

In the high school a marked increase in enrollment has taken place, bringing the total at the present time to sixty. Indications are that this larger registration will be maintained for several years. Such a situation shows that practically all pupils remain in school beyond the compulsory school attendance period which is until age fourteen in any case and until age sixteen unless grade eight has been sooner completed. Although the additional pupils in high school will not require an increase in the teaching staff while the school continues to operate under the present program of studies, it will of course be necessary to purchase more books and supplies. However, it may be thought advisable to consider an expansion of the program whereby further offerings may be made for girls in the field of domestic arts. This branch of instruction may be organized under federal subsidy in much the same way as in the agricultural curriculum for the boys.

In 1935-1936 a course in Biology was given for the first time—this was offered to grades IX and X as the alternate to Junior Business which is being given this year, 1936-1937. For next year, 1937-1938, Biology is due to be taught again. To do this equipment will have to be purchased since two years ago it was only rented. The estimated cost is about $200.

In the elementary rooms worn and obsolete textbooks have been brought up-to-date. More supplementary material, however, could be used to good advantage including both reference books and additional reading material. Also, there is need of more wall maps so that each room, except the primary, may have adequate map equipment and not have to pass one set of maps from room to room as now. A globe, too, in each room would fill an often recurring need.

Transportation

All over the country there has been a great increase in the consolidation of schools. In New Hampshire the number of one-room schools decreased from 475 in 1933-1934 to 436 in 1935-1936. Better roads as well as lessened enrollment in rural areas have brought this about. As a result of this situation more and more attention has been given to the construction of motor vehicles designed especially for the carrying of school pupils. Since Hollis has now closed all outlying one-room schools and must provide transportation for about one-third of the elementary pupils to the central village building it might be quite worth while to consider some plan whereby a standard type of school bus could be provided for the larger routes.

School Plant

The repair projects of painting, shingling and grading which were undertaken last year have now been completed and as a result the building and grounds are much improved. A further item for consideration is metal weatherstripping of windows and doors. This work should result in a much better control of heat and ventilation and incidentally stop the rattling of loose sash. The experience of others who have installed weather strips in school buildings indicates that the project pays for itself in a few years in fuel saved.

A school shop project is now being undertaken under the direction of Mr. Blodgett and the boys who are studying agriculture. Arrangements were made whereby the North School house is now available for this purpose. The building is being torn down and the materials moved to the village for use in the construction of a separate building in back of the high school for use of classes in shop practice assignments. This will replace the present inadequate quarters in one corner of the school basement, and release the same for other purposes.

Co-operation in Education

This is the theme for the 1937 convention of the New Hampshire State Teachers' Association to be held in the new high school building at Nashua next October 21 and 22.

In the January bulletin of the Association, the president, Supt. Earle T. Tracey of Nashua, writes this message: "The history of American Society shows us that there have been relatively long periods of what might be termed static life. During these periods of time, the political and social structure of our country was so well established that little question arose as to what should be taught the youth of the nation. Their education was the education of their fathers and mothers.

Today, the whole life of our country, political, social and economic, is in a state of change. Such a condition of affairs naturally brings with it disagreement and uncertainties. Never before was the spirit of controversy so rampant as at present. Education itself is affected by it to the extent that parents and educators are asking themselves, 'What shall we teach the younger generation?'

The depression has made students more serious, more diligent, and more purposeful. It has made educators more critical of their work, and it has made parents more sensitive to the values of education.

These ought to be our objectives for 1937:

1. A curriculum that meets present-day needs.
2. Better home and school co-operation.
3. A continuous community program for childhood and youth.
4. Better intergration of school life and life outside the school.

Alone, these objectives cannot be accomplished. All the adult public must be enlisted in this work, for it is only to the extent of its confidence and support that we may achieve these objectives. The job of education belongs not alone to the craft, but to every individual of the community. May we in 1937 strive for that co-operation."

Respectfully submitted,

HAROLD C. BALES,

Superintendent of Schools.

Report of School Nurse

To the School Board and Citizens of Hollis :

I tender my report as School Nurse from February 1. 1936, to February 1, 1937.

		Corrections
Number of children examined	197
Number of children with defective teeth	86	59
Number of children with defective tonsils	7	1
Number of children with defective vision	11	7
		Under
Number of children with defective heart	1	Treatment

Contagious diseases : Measles 34, mumps 7, chicken pox 1.

School visits 41 ; home visits 48.

In May and June the school attendance was broken especially in the lower grades due to measles, otherwise the health of the children has been very good.

A dental clinic was held at the school in the spring. This was well patronized. In addition to this being convenient for the children having their dental work done, it is also educational in promoting constructive dentistry.

In October an all day clinic was held at the school with Dr. Robert Kerr and Mrs. Irene Birchall from the Tuberculosis Association in attendance. Sixty-three children were examined at this clinic and where physical defects were found follow-up calls were made on parents giving them reports of findings and advising corrections.

I wish to thank the teachers and parents for their fine co-operation given in helping to carry out the health program of the school.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN J. HOUSE, R. N.,

School Nurse.

February 9, 1937.
